

RENCH ATTACKED GERMANS, ROUT THEM WITH TANKS

any Killed in Heavy Fighting in Silesia, Teutons' Numbering 3,000.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERING

ek to Take the Places of Men Killed in Battle With Polish Rebels.

OPPELN, June 2 (Associated Press).
French soldiers forming the garrison of Heutheun, a city in Southeastern Silesia, near the old Polish front, have been attacked by forces organized by the German inhabitants of the town. Reports state the Germans the fighting numbered 3,000. The much have used tanks in charging the Germans, and are said to have led the upper hand in the battle.
There have been many German casualties. It is reported, but the French have not suffered losses.

The situation at Heutheun is complicated by the presence of Polish infant forces around the city. The idea began a fight with Germans in a outskirts of the town on Sunday.
When the French were attacked Poles rushed men to their assistance. Reports from Heutheun are not clearly clear, but it would appear the French commander refused a proffered aid, as it is said the French are holding the Poles from entering the town.

Women began volunteering last night for service at the front, and declared they were ready to take the aces of the men who were killed. A number of women, wearing men's clothing, are driving wagons and automobiles, some of them carrying revolvers in their belts. The Germans are sending every man possible any sort of weapon to the Polish front.

Germans and Poles have been engaged in a battle near Gross-Streh-en, just east of the Oder River and south of Oppeln. The Germans have sacked the Poles and have forced insurgents to withdraw from strong positions.

DRUG RING BROKEN ALONG BROADWAY, SAYS U. S. AGENT

Big Seizure in Theatre District and Eight Made Prisoners.

Federal narcotic agents, directed by Chief Frank Fitzpatrick and Ralph Oyler, made eight arrests last night and seized forty-eight ounces of morphine. Following the raids Fitzpatrick said "the backbone of the drug traffic in the theatrical district has been broken."

Armed with search warrants the Federal agents went to the Renzina-Hotel in West 46th Street and arrested Dr. Harry H. Fisher, who has his office in the hotel. While the agents were searching the place the detective said about forty addicts called at the doctor's office for drug prescriptions. They were all detained and questioned. Many of them were actors and actresses and some gave names well known to Broadway.

There was excitement among guests of the hotel when the Federal agents drove away "spotters" who posted themselves at the front entrance to warn approaching addicts of the raid.
All Dr. Fisher's drug records were seized and Fitzpatrick estimated that the cancelled stubs showed more than 8,000 narcotic prescriptions issued by him. Dr. Fisher was locked up at Police Headquarters.

The Federal agents then went to Falkner's drug store, at Eighth Avenue and 53d Street, and arrested Robert Falkner, one of the owners. They said it was at this drug store that most of the prescriptions issued by Dr. Fisher were filled. A dozen or more addicts with drug prescriptions appeared and were questioned while the store was being searched. The search yielded forty-eight ounces of morphine.

Dr. Fisher and Falkner were arranged before United States Commissioner Hitchcock and held in $5,000 bail each for a hearing next Thursday.

In a doorway at No. 218 East 114th Street the narcotic agents rounded up six alleged drug peddlers. Another of the band escaped to the roof of an adjoining building, pursued by Agent Carlton Manning. He climbed down a fire escape to the third floor, smashed a window in a room on an alcove and jumped. Manning was close behind when the man jumped and ran to the ground floor, but the fugitive had escaped. Agent W. J.
Mellin snatched another with the butt of a revolver when he tried to run.
One woman fainted on the sidewalk, as the handcuffed prisoners were rushed into waiting automobiles.

At Headquarters the men said they were Anthony Caporusso, No. 321 East 11th Street; Carmine Priziano, No. 315 East 114th Street; Charles Juliano, No. 329 East 114th Street; Ralph Derdura, No. 429 East 117th Street; Charles La Maiti, No. 2282 First Avenue; and Michael Lanza, No. 213 East 114th Street.

STADTMULLER GETS STAY.

Sentence Postponed for Day—May Testify in Moran Case.

Peter Stadtmuller, business agent of the House Shoppers' Union, convicted two weeks ago of extorting $100,000 from Max Minimohn, President of the Inter-State House Wreckers' Association, was to have been sentenced to-day by Justice McAvoy in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court, but sentence was postponed until to-morrow on the application of his counsel supported by Deputy Assistant District Attorney Richter.
The trial of Joseph Moran, jointly indicted with Stadtmuller on the same charge, is taking place before Justice McAvoy and it is possible that the latter may be a witness for the State.
Both men were lieutenants of Brindell.

METZ WINS $590,000 SUIT.

U. S. Court Upholds His Ownership to Stock in German Concern.

The right of Herman A. Metz, former Comptroller and Congressman, to ownership of 1,200 shares of stock in the Farlow-Hoechst Company, a German corporation, was sustained to-day by United States Judge Mayer. The decision ends a long fight between Mr.
Metz and the Alien Property Custodian.
Before the war Mr. Metz was in litigation with the Farlow-Hoechst Company over this stock, which is valued at $590,000. After the United States entered the war the Alien Property Custodian claimed the stock for the government under the Trading With the Enemy Act, alleging that it was owned by German interests.

Judge Mayer's decision not only accords the claim of the Alien Property Custodian but establishes Mr. Metz's claim that he is the owner of the stock.
Judge Mayer's decision states that Mr.
Metz was not associated with the enemy during the war and that it was never intended by the Alien Property Custodian that he was so associated.
